NOT-FOR-PROFIT SECTOR

Nottingham Council for Voluntary Services (NCVS)

Nottingham Voluntary Council supports not-for-profit organisations within the Nottingham area. N2 (squared) Consulting were asked to provide project management support and advice to a number of Welfare Advice Groups looking at working in a collaborative way (called Advice Nottingham). The project to date has included advising the project team on:

- Setting up the project structure and management processes
- Identifying key stakeholders and developing a communications plan
- Organising the work into packages/products to enable a more structured management approach
- Setting up working groups to drive the delivery of work
- Setting up progress review meetings to review plans, key risks and issues

This project is on-going and N2 (squared) Consulting continue to provide key project management support to enable the group to deliver a challenging project within tight time-scales.

Jon Stevens, Change Manager, NCVS:

'Nik and N2 (squared) Consulting have proven an invaluable asset to the Change Management Service at Nottingham Voluntary Action Centre. With patience, dedication and the utmost professionalism they have project managed a diverse range of Welfare Advice groups through the collaborative working process. Working to challenging deadlines they have guided these groups through many difficult situations and introduced skills and processes that are efficient, understandable and will prove beneficial to these groups for years to come. The skills transfer they have provided to infrastructure bodies, such as the CMS and VAC, will benefit the wider voluntary sector and enable us to support the Local and National drive towards partnerships and collaboration with renewed confidence. Having also found the relationship with N2 (squared) Consulting rewarding in terms of both personal and professional development I have no hesitation in recommending N2 (squared) Consulting'.

Martyn Neal, Project Manager, Advice Nottingham:

Advice Nottingham is happy to acknowledge the contribution that the support given by the Change Team at Nottingham CVS, through N2 (squared) Consulting, has made to the project. Not only have they been able to give us information advice and guidance on specific issues but, more importantly, they have provided, and continue to review, a project management system which has enabled us to move forward in a structured way. Without this we would have struggled to make the progress we have.
